School Overview

Founded in 1904, Taipei First Girls High School (TFG) has a history of more than a hundred years. TFG, with its superb tradition, has long stood as one of the most prestigious senior high schools in Taiwan (R.O.C.). Aiming at holistic education, the school puts emphasis on the balanced development of students' intellectual abilities. Currently, there are 66 classes, including 6 scientifically gifted classes, 3 classes for science programs. The school has a large number of extracurricular activities and holds a great variety of interclass competitions for each grade. Most of these competitions require every student's participation, which encourages students to develop leadership, build commitment, explore interests, and strengthen comradeship within classes. The student body is full of talented individuals and characterized by a proud record of success. Till now there are about 80,000 graduates. TFG is proud to have distinguished alumni all over the world. In all professions and fields, they have been playing essential roles and making remarkable contribution.

Student body

With a large student body of 66 classes and 2,328 students in total, admission to the school is still highly competitive. In the past, the lowest admission score for regular students in the junior high school leaving exams (The Comprehensive Assessment Program for Junior High School Students) was in the 97th percentile nationally.

Curriculum

The mandatory courses are respectively Chinese, English, Civic and Society, History, Geography, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Earth Sciences, Music, Arts and Life, Health and Nursing, Physical Education, Living Technology, Information Technology, National Defense Education, Home Economics, Life Education, and Career Planning. At the end of grade 10, students select one out of three groups to study in the next two years; Group I places a heavy emphasis on literature and social studies, while the science curriculum of Group II and Group III consists of more rigorous science and biology courses.

The Transcript

RANKING
