

High school students' conference on inquiry and practice in relation to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

I. Project Background

In 2015, the United Nations identified the major global issues and proposed the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), which encompass three dimensions: economic growth, social progress, and environmental protection. There are a total of 17 goals, and countries will be inspected in terms of their progress and actions towards these goals by 2030.

The National Council for Sustainable Development of Taiwan's Executive Yuan has also established six transformation areas based on the "2050 World Vision." These areas include enhancing human resource capabilities, promoting a circular economy, accelerating energy transformation and decarbonization, building sustainable food and agricultural systems, developing smart cities and rural areas, and fostering a sustainable-oriented digital revolution. In 2019, various ministries collaborated to develop the "Taiwan Sustainable Development Goals" to align with international trends in sustainable development. The Ministry of Education has compiled the "Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) Education Handbook" to help school teachers integrate the concept of the 17 SDGs into various stages of learning. The aim is to enable students to understand international trends and develop the competencies and skills necessary to address future challenges.

The content of natural science inquiry and practice courses provides students with integrated learning experiences that emphasize interdisciplinary integration. The goal is to bridge theory and practice, using practical and relevant topics and issues. Students get to acquire systematic knowledge and engage in interdisciplinary dialogue and critical thinking. The SDGs cover various important global issues, providing a practical framework for combining research and practice. In addition to basic knowledge and attitudes, students can quantify various indicators and objectives of the SDGs through experiments and research. By exploring specific problems and proposing solutions, students gain a deeper understanding of the meaning and significance of the SDGs. This process cultivates students' knowledge and skills, inspires their creativity and critical thinking, and encourages their active involvement in solving real-world problems and proposing solutions.

This event includes: 1) experts and scholars from domestic universities and the Academia Sinica sharing their teaching and research outcomes on SDGs; 2) high school students from various countries sharing their research findings on SDGs through inquiry-based learning; 3) visits to various types of social practices related to SDGs.

II. Project Objectives

ABSTRACT

In this paper, we describe the formatting guidelines for ACM SIG Proceedings.

Keywords

Keywords are your own designated keywords separated by semicolons (“;”).

1. INTRODUCTION

The proceedings are the records of the conference. ACM hopes to give these conference by-products a single, high-quality appearance. To do this, we ask that authors follow some simple guidelines. In essence, we ask you to make your paper look exactly like this document. The easiest way to do this is simply to download a template from [2], and replace the content with your own material.

2. PAGE SIZE

All material on each page should fit within a rectangle of 18 × 23.5 cm (7" × 9.25"), centered on the page, beginning 1.9 cm (0.75") from the top of the page and ending with 2.54 cm (1") from the bottom. The right and left margins should be 1.9 cm (.75"). The text should be in two 8.45 cm (3.33") columns with a .83 cm (.33") gutter.

3. TYPESET TEXT

3.1 Normal or Body Text

Please use a 9-point Times Roman font, or other Roman font with serifs, as close as possible in appearance to Times Roman in which these guidelines have been set. The goal is to have a 9-point text, as you see here. Please use sans-serif or non-proportional fonts only for special purposes, such as distinguishing source code text. If Times Roman is not available, try the font named Computer Modern Roman. On a Macintosh, use the font named Times. Right margins should be justified, not ragged.

3.2 Title and Authors

The title (Helvetica 18-point bold), authors' names (Helvetica 12-point) and affiliations (Helvetica 10-point) run across the full width of the page – one column wide. We also recommend phone number

(Helvetica 10-point) and e-mail address (Helvetica 12-point). See the top of this page for three addresses. If only one address is needed, center all address text. For two addresses, use two centered tabs, and so on. For more than three authors, you may have to improvise.¹

3.3 Subsequent Pages

For pages other than the first page, start at the top of the page, and continue in double-column format. The two columns on the last page should be as close to equal length as possible.

Table 1. Table captions should be placed above the table

Graphics	Top	In-between	Bottom
Tables	End	Last	First
Figures	Good	Similar	Very well

3.4 References and Citations

Footnotes should be Times New Roman 9-point, and justified to the full width of the column.

Use the “ACM Reference format” for references – that is, a numbered list at the end of the article, ordered alphabetically and formatted accordingly. See examples of some typical reference types, in the new “ACM Reference format”, at the end of this document. Within this template, use the style named references for the text. Acceptable abbreviations, for journal names, can be found here: <http://library.caltech.edu/reference/abbreviations/>. Word may try to automatically ‘underline’ hotlinks in your references, the correct style is NO underlining.

The references are also in 9 pt., but that section (see Section 7) is ragged right. References should be published materials accessible to the public. Internal technical reports may be cited only if they are easily accessible (i.e. you can give the address to obtain the report within your citation) and may be obtained by any reader. Proprietary information may not be cited. Private communications should be acknowledged, not referenced (e.g., “[Robertson, personal communication]”).

¹ If necessary, you may place some address information in a footnote, or in a named section at the end of your paper.

3.5 Page Numbering, Headers and Footers

Do not include headers, footers or page numbers in your submission. These will be added when the publications are assembled.

4. FIGURES/CAPTIONS

Place Tables/Figures/Images in text as close to the reference as possible (see Figure 1). It may extend across both columns to a maximum width of 17.78 cm (7”).

Captions should be Times New Roman 9-point bold. They should be numbered (e.g., “Table 1” or “Figure 2”), please note that the word for Table and Figure are spelled out. Figure’s captions should be centered beneath the image or picture, and Table captions should be centered above the table body.

5. SECTIONS

The heading of a section should be in Times New Roman 12-point bold in all-capitals flush left with an additional 6-points of white space above the section head. Sections and subsequent subsections should be numbered and flush left. For a section head and a subsection head together (such as Section 3 and subsection 3.1), use no additional space above the subsection head.

5.1 Subsections

The heading of subsections should be in Times New Roman 12-point bold with only the initial letters capitalized. (Note: For subsections and subsubsections, a word like the or a is not capitalized unless it is the first word of the header.)

5.1.1 Subsubsections

The heading for subsubsections should be in Times New Roman 11-point italic with initial letters capitalized and 6-points of white space above the subsubsection head.

5.1.1.1 Subsubsections

The heading for subsubsections should be in Times New Roman 11-point italic with initial letters capitalized.

5.1.1.2 Subsubsections

The heading for subsubsections should be in Times New Roman 11-point italic with initial letters capitalized.
